OPPOSED TO POLITICS.

MOUNT VERNON ALLIANCE OBJECTS TO ALLIANCE CANDIDATES.

And Declares That When a Man is Wanted to Run He Will be Called Upon—The Governorship Campaign.

The alliance men do not take kindly to the idea of leading alliance men running for office, if the following resolutions adopted by Mr. Vernon Alliance are taken as an indication.

Whereas, We have seen, with regret, in the WEEKLY CONSTITUTION of 27th instant, reported interviews with some of our worthy members placing them in an attitude of hostility to the alliance, which is calculated to prove detrimental to the interests of our order. Therefore be it resolved as the sense of this alliance:

1st. That we unqualifiedly condemn the practice of applicants for their friends who prematurely array themselves as candidates for the various offices.

2nd. That while we believe it to be the duty of the alliance and its members to correct the evils existing by legislation, also the abuse in office by electing good men to office, and while we have a sincere belief in the alliance, we will not know at the proper time and place when we desire their services, and we will not know at the proper time and place when we desire their services.

AT THE TABERNACLE.

Thousands of People Congregate at the Carterville Meeting to Hear Mr. Jones.

Carterville, Ga., September 15.—[Special.]—There were today in Carterville fully fifteen thousand people to hear Sam Jones preach. Never yet in Carterville's history has there been such an assemblage of humanity.

The street to the Jones Tabernacle was one continual flow of people all day. The Tabernacle was filled to overflowing, and hundreds were unable to obtain standing room inside its immense structure. The hotel and private boarding house were filled with guests. The people, seeming to fully appreciate the state of affairs, obtained lunches wherever they could be gotten. Mr. Jones preached at the morning session, and it was freely said that his discourse of Mr. Jones was as grandly practical a sermon as was ever uttered by this great evangelist.

The sermon was thorough and well adapted to the occasion. His preaching was full of telling effect upon his thousands of hearers, and it is predicted that the meetings here will be the salvation of thousands of souls. Those who probably never gave salvation second thought, are taking the very deepest interest in Mr. Jones's work. The afternoon services were conducted by the Rev. Mr. Culpepper, of the south Georgia conference.

It was nearly impossible to get sitting room to hear him. He entertained the large audience with his discourse in a remarkably grand way, and handled his theme with all naturalness, preaching a powerful and instructive sermon. To-night, Mr. Jones will again preach, and any party standing room will be hard to get, in and out of the building, is not by any means overrating it. Mr. Jones and his associates are doing grand work here. This is very proper.

A Card Party at Albany. ALBANY, Ga., September 15.—[Special.]—A card party was given on Thursday evening at the residence of Mr. C. M. Clark. It was given in honor of Mrs. Ed. Wolf, of Birmingham, Alabama.

The ladies presented the gentlemen with beautiful bouquets of flowers, and the gentlemen returned the compliment by presenting the ladies with bouquets of flowers. The party was a very successful one, and the ladies and gentlemen were very much pleased with the result.

Two prizes were competed for, one to be awarded to each lady and the gentleman making the highest score. They were won by Mrs. C. M. Clark, who received a prize of $100, and Mr. C. M. Clark, who received a prize of $50.

FOUL PLAY SUSPECTED.

AN UNKNOWN MAN RUN OVER BY A TRAIN.

Circumstances Point to the Theory That He Was First Murdered and Then Placed Upon the Track—Macon Gossip.

MACON, Ga., September 15.—[Special.]—The East Tennessee railroad passenger train that reached Macon this morning at 7:15, ran over the body of an unknown man last night near Brunswick. This Constitution is informed that the body was so horribly mangled that it was beyond identification. The supposition is that the man was murdered by some one and his dead body then put on the track to make it appear that he was killed by a train.

The body was split wide open by the train and the entrails and liver were torn out and lay upon the ground. One arm was cut off and was found ten feet from the body. The head was found in the middle of the track. It was one of the worst mangled bodies ever seen.

ACCUSED OF MURDER.

Rev. M. G. P. Nickens, of St. Paul, Ark., Indicted for Killing Rev. J. A. Carnutt.

LITTLE ROCK, September 15.—[Special.]—The Madison county grand jury has indicted Rev. M. G. P. Nickens for murder in the first degree. Nickens is in jail at that town and will be tried at the next term of the circuit court, which convenes in February, 1890.

The crime with which Nickens is charged is the most remarkable in the criminal annals of the state, or indeed of the southwest. His victim was a Baptist preacher named J. A. Carnutt, aged about sixty years, and lived for many years in Crawford county, where he was well known. He had enemies, but his reputation was good. He was eccentric, and many stories are related of this trait in his character. As a minister, he was recognized more for zeal and piety than for learning or ability.

He was not a member of the orthodox Baptist denomination, but while accepting and advocating the main doctrines of that faith, inclined to accept the Bible as a guide independent of church creed.

Mr. Carnutt peddled dry goods through the mountains of northwestern Arkansas, occasionally exhorting all with whom he came in contact. He made an impression as being up-right and sincere. About a year ago he moved from his old home, settling near St. Paul, Madison county, this state. He owned a small piece of land, the cultivation of which, together with the proceeds of his peddling excursions, yielded him an income sufficient for his frugal wants.

NEIGHBORS BECOME ENEMIES. Mr. Carnutt lived only a little distance from Rev. M. G. P. Nickens. At first, it appears, the relations between the ministers

LEGISLATIVE GOSSIP.

THE OFFICERS OF THE NEXT ASSEMBLY TALKED OF.

Hon. A. O. Bacon May be Speaker—Neither Mr. Clay or Mr. Dabigton Will Return—What the Boys are Doing.

The legislature is in the same old yellow leaf. Now, when the burning heat of eloquence has passed its meridian, and the exuberance of legislative verbiage has withered and fallen in the September gale, and when the toll-worn members, faded by the cares of state and rent by the storms of his own conscience, turn yearningly to his constituents hoping to read a plaudit in their faces, there are signs of anxiety which even the anticipations of hog killing time and the signs of abundance, are not sufficient to allay.

The members of the legislature are in somewhat the position of collectors assembled before the junior or the sophomore year— anxiously awaiting the results of the final examinations and speculating on their chances of passing to a higher class. In the shifting of the alternating system many of them hope to be returned as senators. Here and there a growing statesman nourishes a congressional ambition, while others are said to be grooming for higher offices in the government of the state.

It seems to be settled that the heads of the two houses will not return. It is understood that President Dabigton will be busy about that time and Speaker Clay proposes to devote himself to the practice of law. Probably he means to be healed by the time the next congressional campaign comes round. Congressional Clements of the seventh was down here this week mingling with his constituents, a good many of whom are in the legislature. There seems to be a question in the minds of some of them as to whether they are Mr. Clements' constituents or he is theirs. It is rumored that Speaker Clay hopes to make Mr. Clements his constituent at some future time. It is said, however, that this is not on the program for next year. What will be done then no one knows, unless it is Mr. Cicero Clements, who is said to know everything worth knowing about politics in the seventh. Brother Cicero is an astute citizen, and is always there to mind the fences when the boys begin to burn the woods.

Mr. Clements is alleged to have some gubernatorial aspirations, but if he does he keeps them well to himself. He was standing in the Kimball house the other night when I asked him about this rumor, and he shook himself as if to see if it were he, and drew up his shoulders about two inches, to what seemed a gubernatorial height. Then he let himself down and remarked that he was not a candidate.

Whatever Speaker Clay proposes to do he says he is not coming back to the legislature next year and some patriotic gentlemen will have to sacrifice himself in that arduous position. Several gentlemen are mentioned for the place, among them Mr. Calvin, of the house; Mr. Bernier, of the senate; and Mr. Terrell, of Meriwether. Mr. Calvin's position on the house committee of agriculture and as chairman of the judiciary committee of his state alliance have caused some of his friends to mention him in connection with the office of commissioner of agriculture when it becomes elective, but it is probable that Mr. Calvin's aspirations are more to the speakership than to the office of commissioner of agriculture.

Speaking of the agricultural department, Commissioner Henderson is still on the job, and it is probable that he will set his stakes to remain there. The business has developed wonderfully during his administration. There are signs that there will be a large crop of candidates for this office and the race will be interesting. Colonel Reub Nisbet has already been announced from Macon.

The bill making the office of state school commissioner elective seems likely to pass. The senate is for it and judging by the previous action the house is likely to follow suit. There will not be much counting of candidates for that office, however, until the bill is passed. It is alleged that the constitutional amendment, which sent too justices to the supreme court, was lost last year because the candidates came out of the woods before the bill went to the people. This year doubtless they will remain in the under cover if the measure is again submitted to popular vote.

The presidency of the senate is a prize on which the gaze of several legislators seems already turning. It is impossible to tell what Mr. Bernier wants, but it is understood that if he should be returned to the senate—that is, Monroe's turn next year—he would be in the way of any man who wants to be president. Mr. Terrell, of Meriwether, is mentioned in the same connection. On a personal note, it is said that it is impossible to say what may be expected from the gentlemen now in the senate. Having been to the senate they are supposed to have graduated from the legislature.

But the largest sensation in the list is reserved for the last. If it will create a commotion all along the line, for it is liable to disorganize a good many states. It is said that Hon. A. O. Bacon will be returned to the next legislature by Bibb county, and that if returned he will be a candidate for speaker of the house. I did not get this from Major Bacon, but it came in a way that gave it a color of probability.

It is generally supposed that the school fund appropriated last winter was $105,000 for this year, and $250,000 for next year. The appropriation was in a tax of one-half a mill, and the $105,000 was estimated. The $250,000 increase will run the proceeds of this tax up to about $120,000 this year, and the next year instead of $200,000, it will probably be over $400,000. Besides this, Senator Harris' change in the tax act gave the general tax on all this year's increase to common schools. The increase will give about $67,000. Treasurer Handman says, however, that it will be absolutely necessary to take this to meet the appropriations from the general fund. W. G. C.

Dr. Shaver at the First Baptist.
Rev. Dr. Shaver filled the pulpit at the First Baptist church yesterday morning and preached an able and scholarly sermon. Whenever the announcement is made that this eminent divine will preach in one of the city churches there is always a large attendance, and Baptists from other states who happen to be in Atlanta on such occasions, take advantage of the opportunity to hear one whose sermons and writings are so widely quoted in their denomination.

An Old Dispatch Republished.
In yesterday morning's CONSTITUTION appeared a dispatch dated "Opekika, Ark., September 9"—announcing the arrest of Colonel Huff, of our state, by the date that there was some mistake.

A SPLENDID SHOWING.

Fulton Lodge, Ancient Order of United Workmen, Starts With a Hundred Members.
Since the visit of Mr. W. H. Bassett, the Ancient Order of United Workmen has received a grand impetus.

Besides the original lodge, there are two new ones being formed, and all of them consist of large memberships.

Thursday evening there was a new lodge formed at Concordia hall, consisting of eighty-six members, and since that time the list has been rapidly increasing until the lodge bids fair to be instituted with a membership of at least one hundred.

The services of the institution will occur at Concordia hall from either next Monday or Tuesday, and there will be a grand layout on that occasion.

The officers elected were, Mr. A. E. Shulhafer, past master workman; Mr. J. H. Randall, former; Mr. J. D. Diehl, recorder; Mr. A. J. Haygood, financier; Mr. H. Wolf, receiver; Mr. Morris Clark, overseer; Mr. C. A. Ransome, guide; Mr. L. E. Kiser, inside watchman; Mr. E. H. Rohr, outside watchman.

The Odd Fellows.
Capitol City lodge, I. O. O. F., held an interesting meeting Thursday night. Several changes were inaugurated in the matter of attending funerals and similar duties.

A regular system of visitations has been instituted, and the different lodges visit each other and enjoy some most interesting evenings.

The Grand Conclave.
Preparations are still going forward for the visit of the Georgia delegation of knights Templar to the grand conclave at Washington.

This will be the largest gathering of knights that the world has ever seen, and some of the most eminent men in the United States will appear in uniform on the day of the grand parade.

It has not been decided, as yet, which route the Georgia delegation will take. They will go either by the Richmond and Danville or the East Tennessee route. The South Carolina knights will join the Georgians, and the two will go together.

Other Society Notes.
The Knights of Pythias held some very interesting meetings last week. Red Cross lodge did work in the third degree Wednesday night, and all the lodges are flourishing.

The Knights of Honor are gaining in strength continually. Georgia lodge held a very interesting meeting Friday night, and a number of new members were initiated.

The Red Men are booming. Cherokee lodge had eleven elections, four adoptions and eight applications on Monday's night. Next Monday they will sleep they will adopt several new members.

Mr. J. H. Myers is still very ill, at his home on Garibaldi street, as well as his wife, both having fever. He is a Cherokee, and the brethren are showing him every possible attention.

Mr. M. W. Mittel, of Cherokee tribe, who was badly injured in a wreck on the Georgia Pacific, near Birmingham, is still suffering from his wounds, at his home, No. 148 Mangum street.

It is generally conceded that the work of Prophet Joe Wiley, of Cherokee tribe, is as fine as has ever been done in Atlanta.

The memorial service in honor of Colonel Adolph Brandt, by the Knights of Pythias, tonight, will be the largest affair of the kind held in this city. The speakers will be from among the most prominent members of the order, and the music will be by the Capital City Quartette club.

The Odd Fellows are making special efforts to increase the membership of the encampment.

Atlanta Council Royal Arcanum met last Thursday night and had an interesting meeting. Professor Means, the regent, read a report on his resignation on account of removal from the city, and the following vacancies were filled: August Denk, regent; Isaac Guthman, vice-regent, and J. H. Kotner, orator.

Piedmont Council Royal Arcanum No. 1182, recently instituted, held an interesting meeting last Saturday night and had several initiations.

Gate City Lodge, No. 144 I. O. B. B., is making special efforts to still further increase its membership. It is now the largest lodge of the order in the district.

THE THIRD DISTRICT.
Sunday School Celebration of Fulton County.

The third district of Fulton County Sunday School association held its annual celebration at Bolton on yesterday.

The day was perfect, the attendance good, and the programme very interesting.

After the opening song, the sixty-seventh Psalm was read very clearly by Master C. D. Jeffries, eight years old.

The opening address was delivered by Rev. W. T. Irvine, pastor of the Bolton church. It was a most timely and instructive address.

The recitations by Miss Randolph and Miss Tarringer were much enjoyed. A short and spirited address by John H. Harwell, vice-president of the parent association, won the applause of the audience. This was followed by a brilliant address by Mr. J. R. Cooper, a talented young orator, which captured the audience. Mr. Cooper is a recent graduate of the State university.

At 1:20 the delegates met for the election of officers for the ensuing year.

After the election came the installation of officers by J. C. Kimball. In the members of this was over, but a more appropriate speech to the new officers could not have been made.

Mr. Thos. Moore made a brief response, and then a short, crisp address by John M. Green, president of the state Sunday school association, Bolton, Mt. Vernon, Peachtree and other schools, was given.

The main feature of the afternoon was the speech of Mr. Kimball. It was characteristic of his earnest Sunday school work. The exercises closed with singing "God be with you till we meet again," and adjourned. A pleasant day indeed was spent by all.

A Case of Poisoning.
A telegram received by Mrs. Dr. Mitchell yesterday conveyed the sad intelligence that Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Gwin, formerly of Atlanta, had both been poisoned at their home in Brunswick.

L. E. Gwin is a daughter of Dr. Mitchell, the details of the case were not given, but the dispatch stated that Mr. Gwin would hardly live another day.

SUNDAY-SCHOOL MASS MEETING.

The Large Gathering at Peachtree Park—Several Addresses.

A union Sunday school mass meeting was held out at the new Peachtree park, not far from Buckhead, on yesterday, which was largely attended and proved a very important and interesting occasion. Mr. John Wilson presided. Dr. T. S. Powell was the first speaker and delivered an eloquent and powerful address, setting forth in strong terms the importance and value of education, both of the head and of the heart. The address foreshadowed the real purpose of the meeting which was to awaken an interest in the establishment of a first-class academy at Peachtree park and the enlargement and advancement of the Sunday-school in that vicinity.

Mr. J. C. Kimball was the next speaker. Mr. Kimball, with his usual earnestness and vigor, made a strong plea for the Sunday-school, and heartily endorsed the proposed school.

At the close of Mr. Kimball's address, Dr. Powell made a statement of the plans for the proposed school, and took up a collection in aid of the enterprise, which resulted in pledging quite a large sum.

After a time the address of the congregation assembled. Several songs were sung, after which Dr. Ward, of Decatur, was introduced, and delivered a very effective address. His theme was "Education, the Threefold—Intellectual, Physical and Moral."

The doctor was listened to with deep interest and made a profound impression. Mr. E. H. Rohr, of the last session, was an enthusiast on the subject of Sunday schools, and thoroughly enthused his audience.

The meeting throughout was deeply interesting and indicated that the proposed school was sure to be established and maintained.

AN ATLANTA BOY.
How an Atlanta Boy Has Succeeded in New York, and What He Says.

The theory of the survival of the fittest is again exemplified by the success of Mr. Walker Martin, formerly of Atlanta, who, as the following extracts show, is doing well in New York.

It is one of the common things in the world to hear young New Yorkers declare that they are going to leave the town; that there is no chance in it for a young man, and that they are going to seek a new field for their operations. In strange contradiction to this rather gratuitous complaint is the fact that every year from fifty to one hundred young men come from the south to New York, and find it not only a pleasant, but a profitable field of operation.

One of these young men is a young man named Walker Martin. He is a native of Atlanta, Ga., and, in accordance with prior arrangements, connected himself with the cotton trade of New York, and is now doing well.

I hear a good deal now and then of young men who are starting out for themselves in life, and not a week is so long as to find a man who has followed his example and coming to New York. "As for myself," says Mr. Martin, "I am satisfied that there is no place in America for a young man who desires to work, and who has really any interest in his success, where there are the opportunities to be found in New York city."

Mr. Martin and the other young men who propose to come up here represent a certain amount of southern cotton trade. Each lot to this market is his own clientele of cotton raisers, and in just such proportion as these young men direct the cotton product of the southern states to this market does it increase the influence of the New York cotton exchange, and show more clearly the fact that there is a demand and a good market for everything in New York, transatlantic.

R. Y. M. C. A.
The Literary Club Had an Interesting Meeting Last Night.

The literary club met Saturday night. After transacting the usual business and the initiation of several new members the following programme was rendered:

A recitation in dialect by Mr. J. B. Bizzell.
An essay (allegory) by Mr. W. R. Board.
Scholarship Mark Twain by Mr. F. Tennant.
Mr. Bartlett gave a reading.

Mr. Garcia, of the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia railroads, made a talk on the subject, on which he said every man, woman and child within a radius of five miles can talk. That subject being "Atlanta."

A man said as he went to fence in a Dakota blizzard in a ton were lot with a band of wild felines to keep an Atlanta man from leaving his state to born.

The city officials have won fame, not only in the surrounding towns, but in the distant cities. Atlanta is noted as the home of burnt effigies and blooded tourists.

The city recorder can say "ten and cents" as rapidly as the dark-skinned native of the south can wipe a membership. It is now the largest lodge of the order in the district.

It is as natural for an Atlanta to blow it as for a shaft to grow.

He closed by wishing all the citizens of Atlanta, whether native borne or imported, prosperity and happiness as long as they obey the laws of the country.

The club will hold an informal meeting on next Saturday night to arrange the literary work for the fall and winter.

REFUSED ADMISSION.
Rev. Francis Joseph Stopped by a Sentry at Chattahoochee Brickyard.

Rev. Francis Joseph was refused admission to the Chattahoochee brickyard convict camps yesterday.

As everybody knows, Rev. Joseph is the apostle of the convicts, and they are always glad to welcome him among them.

But the sentry, a new sentry, a man that had been recently employed, yesterday, and he was ordered to halt at quite a distance from the gate.

"You can't come in here," said the sentry. "Well, but the courts have given me permission," urged the minister.

"Can't help it. I have strict orders to stop any of the brethren's attempts to enter," exclaimed the sentry, holding his breech loader in a business-like manner.

Rev. Francis scratched his head and ventured to the point still further.

"The governor has granted me permission and wants me to visit these men. I am a preacher."

"I don't care who nor what you are. You can't come in."

In the meantime some of the inmates who knew him spied the preacher and ran and told the guards who knew him, and he was allowed to enter after the proper explanations had been made and the new sentry was satisfied as to his authority.

HALF OF THE STORY

ABOUT GEORGIA'S GREAT MINERAL WEALTH UNFOLDED.

Professor C. M. Dobson Tells of Some of the Things He Has Found About at Dahlonga and Atlanta People Interested.

The wealth of Georgia—Is there any end to it? Everybody who is given an insight into Georgia's possibilities ask that question. The answers of the experts who have visited the grounds, tell of wonders, but the half has not been told.

Professor C. M. Dobson, the mining engineer, has just returned from a careful examination of the iron fields in the northeastern part of Georgia. He reports the lands he has been looking over as exceedingly rich, not only in iron but in gold and other metals as well. It is evident from what Professor Dobson says, that big fortunes are waiting for the men enterprising enough to open up this country and wrestle with the earth for its hidden treasures.

"I have in my researches," said Mr. Dobson, last night, "discovered two zones of iron ore. The first of these extends from Alpharetta in a northeast direction. It cuts through Milton county and Hall into Lumpkin, and from Lumpkin it passes through White. The zones tend in a northeast and southwest direction, and they lie southeast of each other in belts three miles wide. It is only recently that any knowledge of the richness of these metallic ores has been acquired. The quality I consider fully equal to the celebrated Lake Superior ore, and as to the quantity nothing can be said, as the examinations have not gone far enough; they appear, however, to be inexhaustible."

"In 1849, during the gold excitement in the northeast portion of the state of Georgia, when the mint at Dahlonega was in full blast, there was what was known to the gold miners of those days as the 'Black Belt,' running almost parallel with the gold belt, and whenever the black belt ran in proximity to the gold belt the latter became poor and not workable with any degree of profit. The natural consequence was that the black belt was studiously avoided, and as it was very perceptible no prospecting was ever done inside the limit of it.

"The miners didn't know that it was iron. Many of them computed it to be copper, probably resulting from the numerous old iron works which exist in abundance on the belt; but as they were mining gold then, and have been doing so more or less up to the present time, no further attention was paid to the iron until recently. Many stories to the effect that farmers had found stuff—the local vernacular—which would pick up nails, needles, etc., have been about of recent years and these rumors are probably the cause of the more recent investigations, which have so satisfactorily resulted in the verification of the stories."

"Is there any means of transporting the ore from the mines?" Prof. Dobson was asked.
"There will be very soon. The nearest railroad at present is the Richmond and Danville, which bisects the district at the town of Gainesville, twenty-five miles distant from Dahlonega and twenty from the iron fields. The present methods employed in transport are mule wagons. The rates upon freight, however, are extortionate, amounting to eight dollars a ton between the two points.

"It is an absolute impossibility to ship iron ore at a profit under the present conditions of transportation, but there is no doubt that when a railroad is built through this district as it must be sooner or later, that the quantity of iron ore which will be shipped will sustain the road without any outside assistance."

"Does it pay to mine gold?"
"One mine owned by Barlow & Hand, of New York, has been worked for the past twenty-five years and it has paid for $72,000 to over $100,000 a year. Colonel Hand owns 75 per cent of the stock.

"They are all mined by hydraulic power. Colonel Hand years ago recognized the fact water was the prime necessity of that country. He built a ditch thirty-five miles long from the headwaters of the Yachola river at a cost of $125,000. In the ravines the original company had built trestles 250 feet high in places, which are rotten at one end and are completely at the other. Colonel Hand tore these down and put in inverted siphons of iron thirty-six inches in diameter in twenty-one feet lengths of wrought iron three fourths of an inch thick. The first one is 5,400 feet in length, and the others aggregate a length of four miles. These pipes had to be brought all the way from Atlanta in wagons. The ve hicles were built especially for the purpose. He has thus obtained 1800 miners' inches of water. Colonel Hand performs the incredible feat of making gold ore pay that is worth 75 cents a ton. Six or seven miners are worked with an aggregate of 150 stamps running."

"And large sums have been lost in these gold mines, but it has been done by bad management. A mine has to be worked with the same economy as any other enterprise, and even more. Another thing is that with the hydraulic system, the mines are only sunk until sulphides are reached. That is, it is only free gold mining. The sulphides, however, contain gold in greater quantities, but it has to be differently got at. The chlorination system is the best. I am confident that immense mineral wealth remains undeveloped in this part of Georgia, and companies are now being formed and capital subscribed to work these mines. They are bound to get rich."

THE ATLANTA COMPANY

Holds a Meeting and Discusses Its Mining Property.

A meeting of the Atlanta Gold Mining company was held Saturday afternoon in the office of Griffin, Krane & Co.
Professor Dobson verbally reported the condition of the mine, and gave his views as to the proper development of it with the probable cost. Professor Dobson's report was so encouraging that an offer for the purchase of the mine was raised, and each share was assessed $100 for the development of the property.
Instructions were given Professor Dobson to make proper measurements of the property and submit an accurate estimate of the cost of its development. The members have a small attack of gold fever, if their enthusiasm is anything to judge by.

Sarah Bernhardt
Is coming to America, and great will be the enthusiasm aroused amongst her admirers. But we have our own bright star, Mary Anderson, who will continue to bear off the palm in the dramatic, as does "LUCY HINTON" in the real tobacco world.

THE MINSTRELS TONIGHT.

George Wilson and His Men Reach the City After Dark.

The theatrical season will open this evening with George Wilson's mammoth minstrel. From everywhere comes the assertion that the "Genial George" has surpassed all his preceding efforts and has put up a programme which has never been excelled by any other minstrel company. Since his opening performance this season, George Wilson has been received in every town with the greatest enthusiasm, and he plays everywhere to a standing room only. To his already good company he has added Arno and Ranna's best performers, and he can boast now of a real galaxy of stars. The Elmsira Star says of his appearance there:

"Veni, vidi, vici."
That was what a famous general of ancient history remarked when he so conquered, "I came, I saw, I conquered."
Probably George Wilson is saying that to himself today. At a rate he is entitled to it. The opening night of the season at the opera house brought out a very large attendance, and from the time of the curtain to the falling thereof, at 10:45, the audience were entertained as never before. "Derby Day," in the first part, was a handsomely dressed stage scene, and was a lively presentation. The singing was superb, and George himself was funnier than ever. Ranna and Arno, in their horizontal beds, received applause that must have pleased them. It would be useless to rehearse the entire programme. Suffice it to say that with his present entertainment George Wilson can safely go through the country and confidently enjoy a veritable triumphal tour. He has a show that it will bolder the profession to beat. If they equal it they will have to hustle.

After Dark.

The Boston Herald of August 20 thus speaks of the Grand opera house "After Dark," one of the early productions of the veteran actor and playwright, Dion Boucicault. The play, presented, and every seat was occupied and the standing room was filled. The audience was enthusiastic at times, and not a single person was heard to call for those members taking a conspicuous part to step before the footlights. Mr. William A. Brady enacted the role of Old Tom, and from the first appearance before the audience he was received in a flattering way, a compliment which was given to him throughout the performance. Mr. J. W. McCord played the part of Gordon Cummey, an English officer and gentleman, with ease and grace, and was frequently applauded. Mr. Stanislaus Stange as Sir George Medhurst was acceptable. Mr. E. L. Walton was the worthy Morris, the avocations and manor of the gambler and crook, and secured a success. Mr. Frank Richardson was the villainous Richard Knatchbull, and was complimented by vigorous hissing. Miss Lillian Lee, as Rose, the applause of the audience from the beginning, and kept it until the close, being called before the footlights many times. Miss Lillian Lee was pleasing. The other members of the company gave satisfactory results.

"At the conclusion of the first act a gambling room is shown in full operation, with the chips and cards going in and out, and the players about the place show conclusively what the establishment is used for. In a twinkling a bell is rung, and simultaneously the gambling signs change to religious ones, and the gamblers on their knees, and with hymn books in hand, reverently sing after the salvation army style. The scene is then changed, and rushed in, seeing their mistake, take their hats off with much apparent sanctity, and quietly and stealthily cross the stage and are received with wild applause. In the second act London at night is prettily shown with the great towers of St. Paul's cathedral and the river Thames. In the fourth act, Mrs. Marie Rene gives a ball dance. Kelly and Murphy a grotesque, though at times pretty severe, boxing exhibition, and Bobby Taylor gives several of his popular specialty acts. The railroad scene, in this act, where Old Tom rescues Cummey, proved as effective as any of the rest."

AN ARM CUT OFF.

A Negro Workman Hurt at the Woodward Lumber Company.

There was a terrible accident at the Woodward Lumber Company's shops Saturday evening.

Will Wilson, a negro laborer employed in the shops, attempted to make the shavings out of a diagonal planer band.
He had on a shirt the wrist band of which was unbuttoned, and as he reached in the planer the shirt was caught by the belt, and jerked into the planer which was revolving at a very rapid rate of speed.
It first caught his hand and chopped it into pieces, finally severing his arm just above the wrist.

The wound was a terrible one, and the negro was sent home and a physician summoned. He was resting last evening, but there is still danger of its resulting fatally, on account of the nature of the wound.
